

Way To Remove Dandruff

There is no sure way that has been found to remove dandruff at once. It is to dissolve it, then wash it entirely. To do this, use four ounces of plain, liquid arvon from any drug store. It is all you will need, applied night when retiring; use with the finger tips. It will most if not all, of the dandruff will be gone, and three more applications will completely remove the sign and trace of it, no more such dandruff you may have.

FRENCH GIRLS TURN INTO BETSY ROSSESFASHION OLD GLORY WITH ANY MATERIAL AT HAND.Enthusiasm of American Boys
Runs High as They Sweep
Toward the Rhine.

(By Bert Ford.)
With the American Army of Occupation, Nov. 19.—(T. A. M.)—(L. N. S.)

Enthusiasm of American Boys
Runs High as They Sweep
Toward the Rhine.

Many women and girls of Lorraine have turned Betsy Rosses, fashioning Old Glory out of any material at hand, for the decoration of their homes as the long line of American soldiers drive by.

The Yankees loudly cheered the home-made banners, although some of them showed a sad lack of material and knowledge of the emblem. But though the number of stars and bars were off, the doughboys knew that the real spirit animated their manufacture.

Officers and men alike saluted the home-made banners, hung out as a tribute of homage to the victorious army. One flag had six stripes and eight stars, but most of them were very well made indeed.

In one village where the people lacked colored cloth, flags were made of paper and were hung above crude arches of triumph. Variegated French and American flags were intertwined and these decorations spanned the road at many towns and villages. The French pushed their way, the Americans reciprocated by giving band concerts in the public squares during halts.

Every time a stop was made, the civilians held a great celebration with local officials making addresses of welcome. Everywhere "the latching string is out" to the doughboys.

The khaki columns swung forward throughout Monday in radiant sunshine which glinted upon their rifles. The weather was cold but the doughboys did not mind this.

ARE ADVERTISED MEDICINES WORTHLESS?

There is no more reason to condemn all advertised medicines than there is to condemn all physicians or all druggists. There are in every profession and in every trade, but they do not last long. Take a medicine like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the true test of its merit is the fact that for forty years it has been relieving women of America from the worst forms of female ailments, constantly growing in popularity and favor, until it is now recognized from ocean to ocean as the standard remedy for female ills.

CONTRACTS CANCELED

Aggregate sum of $421,359.000 involved in orders since armistice was signed.
Washington, Nov. 20.—Cancellation of naval ordnance contracts aggregating $421,359,000 has been ordered by the navy department since the German armistice was signed, Admiral Earle, chief of the navy ordnance bureau, informed the house naval affairs committee yesterday afternoon.

ENTERTAIN WOUNDED MEN

Americans in Hospitals Near Paris to Enjoy Thanksgiving.
Washington, Nov. 20.—Wounded American soldiers at hospitals at and near Paris will be the guests of the American Red Cross Thanksgiving day. A cablegram received at headquarters here today said the soldiers will partake of an old-fashioned American Thanksgiving dinner and will be the guests of the Red Cross at a theatrical performance in the afternoon.

ROYAL DECREE LIMITS NEWS.

Rome, Nov. 20.—By a royal decree the press censorship has been limited to military news, false reports likely to alarm the public, reports of troubled international relations and matter which in itself is basis for prosecution.

Pape's Diapiesin at once ends
sourness, gases, acidity, indigestion.

Undigested food! Lumps of pain; belching gas, acids and sourness. When your stomach is all upset, here is instant relief—No waiting!

The moment you eat a tablet of Pape's Diapiesin all the indigestion, sourness, gases, acidity, and sourness and stomach acidity ends.

Pape's Diapiesin tablets cost little at any drug store but there is no surer or quicker stomach relief known.—(Adv.)

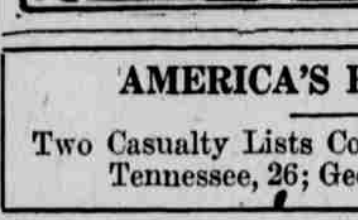

THREE BROTHERS
AT WAR INSPIRE
GIRL POET'S BOOK

Some of her friends charged Miss Carolyn Davies with writing her poetry with her feet. Her heels have to be approximately as high as her head before the words will rhyme. Miss Davies, on the contrary, claims this keeps the blood from rushing to the head to her toes, and proves she writes with her brain.

A former University of California girl, she is the youngest of American poets to complete a book of war verse. It is dedicated to her three brothers who are in the service of their country, and is called "Drum in Our Street."

In a receding position on the floor she penned her literary gems. Here is one of them:

The War Bulletin.
Not ink, but blood—so they
The bulletins are made—each word,
each line,
Each letter in the lists. One sudden day
Last week, of which I do not like to think.
It was your heart's blood made the ink.
Today—God keep me silent—it was mine.

Double Tragedy
One Negro Killed and Another Fatally Wounded in Gun Duel.
Scottsboro, Ala., Nov. 20.—(Special).—A double tragedy occurred at Larkinsville Tuesday night when Ellis Walker, Cutcher shot and killed Silas Walker. Walker also shooting McCutchen, probably fatally. Both men are negroes.
According to McCutchen's story of the affair a crowd of negroes had been off in the mountain drinking and gambling, when a dispute arose over the game between Walker and McCutchen. McCutchen left and went home and Walker armed himself with a shotgun and followed McCutchen. When Walker got to McCutchen's house McCutchen's wife intervened and thought she had the matter settled, but when Walker started to leave the premises he met McCutchen coming around the house also armed with a shotgun. Walker exclaimed: "McCutchen that they had as well settle the matter right there and both parties fired about the same time. McCutchen killing Walker outright and himself receiving wounds which may prove fatal.

CONTROL MARINE CABLES

Bureau's Order Extends Government Possession of Systems.
Washington, Nov. 20.—An order making effective government possession and control of marine cable systems of the United States, previously issued by President Wilson under date of Nov. 2, was issued today by Postmaster-General Burleson. It directs that until further notice cable companies shall continue operation through regular channels, and asks the co-operation of officers and employees of the companies and the public.

The following order was issued:
"In order that the telegraph facilities may be used to the fullest extent and the transmission of messages expedited, the telegraph systems shall hereafter be operated as one, and effective Dec. 1, 1918, all telegraph offices shall accept for transmission all classes of messages now accepted by any of them at the prescribed tariff rates."

RELEASE OF TAXICABS

Plan to Ease Transport Crisis in Paris.
Paris, Nov. 20.—The great array of taxicabs mobilized in 1914, when Gen. Manoury's army was hurried to the Marne, where the Germans were decisively defeated, are being released to ease the transport crisis in this city. Auto "busses" that were used by the French army during the past four years, are being returned here also.

Learn to Lookout for Yourself.

Somebody has declared that when people learn to treat slight ailments themselves, there will be much less sickness. Most diseases have their origin in some minor ailment, and when that is properly treated the more serious diseases are able to avoid. This is particularly true of throat and lung troubles. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and give every cold the attention it deserves and you will be able to avoid some of the most serious diseases that afflict mankind. This remedy has been in use for many years and its value fully proven.—(Adv.)

CHANGE IN METHODS MAY PROVE DISASTROUS

OPPOSES G. O. P. RECONSTRUCTION PROGRAM.

President Will Outline Policies in Message to Congress Before Going to Europe.

(By John Edwin Nevins.)
Washington, Nov. 20.—Following a lengthy conference at the White House last night between President Wilson and democratic leaders, it was learned today that the so-called "reconstruction" program of the republicans will meet with stern opposition. The chief executive is understood to have informed the conferees that until the peace treaties are actually completed, any change in methods might prove disastrous.

As a result, it is expected that an effort will be made to continue the war trade board and agencies of that character as at present, and that there will be no reconstruction committee named to recommend legislation changing existing methods.

The president will outline his reasons for such action in his annual message to congress, which will be delivered at the opening of the short session of the first week in December. At the time, on the eve of his departure for Europe, he will make plain the reasons that are compelling him to make the trip abroad, and incidentally he is expected to answer the criticism of his action in going to Europe.

The belief was growing here today that the time consumed by the chief executive abroad will be much greater than had been anticipated when he let it be known that he was going. Administration officials, however, insisted again today that it will be in no way necessary for him to delegate any of his power to Vice-President Marshall. The arrangements that are being made to keep the president in complete touch with all that is transpiring within the United States all of the time he is away from Washington are of the most elaborate character. The naval wireless station will be in constant touch. In addition a single cable line is to be held entirely for executive business.

Little Need of Presence.
There will be little need for the president to be in Washington during the session of February officials today said. The short session of congress will be devoted entirely to the completion of the revenue bill and measures that are being made to keep the president in complete touch with all that is transpiring within the United States all of the time he is away from Washington are of the most elaborate character. The naval wireless station will be in constant touch. In addition a single cable line is to be held entirely for executive business.

Courier System.
It is expected that a regular courier system will be maintained between the president and Europe. What will practically amount to a "foreign White House" will be established wherever the chief executive is quartered, and messengers will make the trip across the ocean in the fast vessels that will be in use by the navy, transporting supplies one way and returning soldiers the other. At no time will more than ten days elapse between the completion of a document here in Washington and its presentation to the president in France, where such presentation is necessary if the plans now being completed are carried out without any hitch.

TALKING TO JERRIES

(Junior B. Wood Cable in Chicago News.)
A few yards from our automobile a little group of soldiers could be distinguished standing in the fog. We had motorized across "no man's land," where only a few minutes earlier bullets had been flying. A silent body lay at the roadside with scattered equipment and empty shells about it. The half dozen men were the only signs of life as we approached, trying to get our bearings.

"Where are the German lines?" asked one of the correspondents.
"You are inside of what was their line, but we have come over here to talk to these Jerries," replied an American soldier. Then we were able to distinguish that two members of the group of soldiers were in German uniforms and were talking in their own language to a German-speaking American. "You see, the war is over, and we just wanted to find out what they think of it," explained one of the soldiers.

Scene Repeated at Many Places.
This scene was repeated at many places on the front in the first few minutes after the fighting had stopped. When the last guns were fired, the men were in talking distance of the enemy at most spots on the front. A man in either of the two American armies could halloo across the intervening space. Once he received an answer, the American soldier would step to the front and across and visit his former antagonists.

This Jerry said he would rather go to the United States than return to Germany," said the soldier who was doing the interpreting.

RECORD OF DIVISIONS

(Kansas City Star.)
Battles in which the Americans took part follow:
Battle of Montdidier, April 26; First Division.
Battle at Cantigny, May 30; First Division.
Battle at Le Thillot, June 2; Second Division.
Battles at Belleau Woods, Vaux and Forcy, June 5; Second Division.
Battles at the second and twenty-eighth divisions helped the French hold the Germans at the bridgehead of Chateau Thierry on the western end of the Marne. The engagement was continuous and Chateau Thierry fell to the French and Americans July 21.

Battles at Chateau-Thierry, which was taken July 21.
Before the Aisne was reached in this drive the Third, Fourth, Twenty-sixth, Forty-second and Seventy-seventh American Divisions had taken part.
Battles at Hamel and Albert, Aug. 21; Thirty-third Division.
Battle at Canal du Nord, Sept. 4; Twenty-seventh and Thirtieth Divisions.
The St. Mihiel offensive, Sept. 12; First, Second, Third, Fourth, Twenty-second and Eighty-ninth divisions.
Battle north of Chateau, Oct. 3; Second Division.
Advance on Lille, Oct. 7, Thirtieth and Twenty-seventh divisions, with the British.
Many Were in Last Drive.
The last came in the last offensive, when the Americans were given the toughest spot on the entire line between Switzerland and the North sea—the hinge position pivoting on Verdun and swinging from the Meuse to the Aisne. The Thirty-third, Eighteenth, Fourth, Seventy-ninth, Thirty-second, Ninety-first, Thirty-fifth, Twenty-eighth and Seventy-seventh divisions made the initial attack on Sept. 26, with the Third, Thirty-second and Ninety-second divisions in support. Later in the days of fighting, the First, Fifth, Twenty-sixth, Twenty-ninth, Forty-second, Seventy-eighth, Eighty-second and Ninetyth divisions took their places in the line.

CHRISTMAS FOR BELGIANS

Scottsboro Sends Box of Clothing—Work of Scottsboro Red Cross Chapter.
Scottsboro, Ala., Nov. 20.—(Special).—The Scottsboro chapter of a Christmas box to the Belgians last week sent 600 pounds of clothing and household linen.
In this shipment were fifteen new coats which were given and quilted by ladies of the town in a week's time.
The report from the fern given the Red Cross at the Jackson county fair has been made, which shows the chapter made $12.66.

The chapter is collecting nuts for the government. Several barrels are now ready, waiting for instructions to ship. The allotment for the November sewing has been received and material will be in stock. This is the largest allotment the chapter had, including 150 socks, amounting to $6.25; 20 help-less case shirts, $5.45, and 10 petticoats, $2.80.

The home service section now has the cautions and all instructions ready to be given out with government labels. Beginning in December every chapter of the Red Cross has been put on a membership drive, at which time this chapter will stop at nothing less than 100 per cent. membership.

The Junior Red Cross sent in its allotment of 124 property bags. They are now working on their story book allotment, which are to be made for the wounded soldiers in France.

TAKES FRENCH LEAVE

Keen-Eyed Y. M. C. A. Girls Detect German in Paris Hotel.

Paris, Nov. 20.—Two keen-eyed American girls, both workers for the Y. M. C. A., were responsible for the detection of a German in Paris who had formerly been a military attaché of the German embassy at Washington, and is now in New York and recognized him at once. Later the hotel was searched for him, but the former military attaché had fled, abandoning his baggage.

SCHOOL CHILDREN
STERILIZE NOSES
AVOID CONTAGION

Influenza, Pneumonia, Meningitis, Diphtheria, Smallpox, Scarlet Fever, Measles, Whooping Cough and Many Other Contagious Diseases Contracted at School Through Nose.

Parents are advised to teach their children, as a part of their daily toilet, how to sterilize the nose and throat with Eucapine, the preparation of O. Eucapine, which became so popular in this country during the epidemic of influenza and pneumonia. A child can be shown in a minute how to use it and, if reminded by the parent, will do so systematically without assistance or objection.
The child dips its little finger into the jar of Eucapine and introduces it into each nostril; then, catching the nose between the thumb and first finger, suddenly releases it as he draws in his breath, thus sniffing the Eucapine back into the throat. The Eucapine gradually spreads over the throat, tonsils, ear ducts and larynx, sterilizing, cleansing and healing any inflammation or irritation and preventing the formation of adenoids, enlarged tonsils, earache, deafness and serious lung diseases.
Sterilization with Eucapine keeps the nose clean, healthy, comfortable and free from germs; relieves simple croup, coughs, colds and sore throat almost immediately and is so pleasant that even the youngest children learn to use their jar of Eucapine and use it for themselves whenever they feel a cold or sore throat coming on. Colds are contagious and if every member of the family, especially those who must breathe the infected dust of public buildings, streets and conveyances, would make sterilization with Eucapine a part of their daily toilet, much sickness would be avoided.
Note:—The product referred to above may be obtained at any drug store for a few cents and a jar should be provided for each member of the family, including the servants, especially the nurse.—(Adv.)
